SKIDMORE LOSES TO MARYVILLE 3-6

WEEK-DAY TEAM WINS LOOSELY PLAYED GAME.

MEET HOPKINS HERE TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Expect Fast Playing to Victory Them—Wakeman Panned 18 Yesterday No Runs Were Earned.

The Maryville week-day base ball team defeated the Skidmore team in a loosely played game on the Normal field yesterday afternoon by the score of 6 to 3. The game started off as though Skidmore would put the kinks in the locals, they having gotten two runs in the first. Tightening of the loose places after the initial inning, however, and better batting, secured the game for the home nine.

L. H. Thieman of Corning did not prove to be the terror that he was cracked up to be, striking out but eight men to thirteen fanned by Wakeman. Fewer hits and more errors cost the game for the Skidmore team, though the local players also fielded rather loosely.

Skidmore's runs were unearned. The first was when Bodle went to first on a fielder's choice, stole second and came home on a hit by Tate. Tate got the second. He went to first on his single, to second on an error, to third on a passed ball and home on an error.

Last Run in Third.

Bodle also made their final score on a fielder's choice to first, an error to second, stolen base to third and passed ball by catcher advanced him to home plate. That ended their career.

Maryville got its first run in the first inning, when Ed Adams went to first on an error, to second by Alley, next up, being hit by the pitcher, and home on a two-bagger by Wray.

The second run for the Maryville team came in the fourth inning, when Hagey saw first on a fielder's choice, stole second and third and came home when the catcher missed a pitched ball.

But the big time was in the fifth inning, when, with none down, the scoring of three runs began. Palfreyman got on first with a walk, went to second on a steal, to third on a single by Vaughn, next up, and stole home. Vaughn in the meantime had gone to first on his single, stole second, saw third on an error and came home on a repetition. Adams followed with a sight at first on an error, stole second, went to third on a bingle by Alley and came home right with Vaughn on a bonehead by Tate, Skidmore catcher.

Mastellar, a Strong Arm.

Mastellar got a two-bagger after two went down, but died at third on a foul catch by Tate. The final score came in the seventh inning, when Wray got a single, stole second, went to third on an error, and home on a single by Mastellar. Wakeman also had a fine chance to score in the sixth inning, when with only one down he had advanced to second, and would have made third safely when interfered with by Hagey, coaching.

A crowd of about 325 saw the game, while Skidmore had quite a bunch of rooters The week-day team will play Hopkins at the Normal field at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Hopkins team was defeated here Sunday by the Federals 0 to 4. A good game tomorrow is expected.

Appear in New Suits.

The local players appeared in public for the first time yesterday in their new suits of gray with navy blue stripes. The score:

WAR COST GOES UP

BRITISH SPEND $15,000,000 DAILY IN FIGHT NOW

VOTE ANOTHER BILLION

Britain Prepares For Long Seige at Dardanelles—Teutons Resume in Galicia—Greece to War!

London, June 16.—The house of commons voted another credit of £250,000,000, making, with previous sums, a total of £862,000,000 already allowed for war purposes.

Premier Asquith informed the members of the house of commons that the expenditure in the next three months would be not less than $15,000,000 daily.

In introducing the measure, Premier Asquith remarked that from April 1 to June 12, the expenditures had been at the rate of £2,660,000 daily. He estimated that the total daily expenditure during the currency of the new credit would be not less than £3,000,000, for the reason that as the war extended its area, Great Britain's financial obligations to the allies would increase.

German Rush Is On Again.

The Austro-German rush in Galicia is on again. Both Berlin and Vienna officially lay claim to progress along virtually the entire southeastern front.

The fighting is growing harder daily along the Austro-Italian frontier and, in view of past performances, it is considered reasonable to assume that Germany will throw a great mass of troops on this front and endeavor to sweep into Italy and hold ground there, just as it has done in Poland, Belgium and France.

The fighting in France around Arras, while bitter and marked by daily attack and counter attack, has reached the stage where the German and French official communications flatly contradict each other. On the whole, it is believed here the advantage has been with the French.

Prepared For Long Fight.

That England is prepared for long siege operations in the Dardanelles is indicated in an official statement just issued explaining the nature of the tedious trench warfare prevailing, although asserting that the Turkish offensive is not so sharp as it was formerly.

A most complete returns for the general elections assure a war chamber for Greece, although with the king still in a precarious condition and the chamber not due to meet for more than a month, no immediate events affecting Greece's neutrality are expected.

BAPTISTS GET ONLY 4 FISH

Material for Lawn "Fry" Tomorrow Night Lacking—Try Today in Platte River.

The Men's club of the First Baptist church plan to have a fish fry for all the members of the church on the church lawn tomorrow night, but so far they have but four "measly mud cats" in sight for the fry. C. Moberly and Sheriff Edwin Wallace. They were caught in a seine.

Undaunted by the failure of yesterday, however, the same bunch, excepting Chief Moberly and Sheriff Wallace, left for the Platte river at 11 o'clock this morning to try to get some fish. If they can't get them that way, Dr. Malotte said they would have them shipped in.

The fish fry is assured anyway.

GUINEA FOWLS EASILY CAPTURED IN CHASES TODAY.

33 AWARDS TOTAL $150

Business Establishments of City Offer Merchandise to Winners in Bird Contest—Each is Numbered.

The guineas are flying today, but not very high nor very far. As a result the race for the ten flown from the building occupied by Pearson's pharmacy, Fourth and Main streets, at 11:30 o'clock this morning and the twelve from Third and Main streets at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon was not very long nor spirited.

Several led the scores of small boys and even adults a merry chase down the streets and through the court house lawn, but the majority were picked up quite easily. The remainder of the thirty-three fowls will be turned loose at 5 o'clock this afternoon from some place in the business section.

The fact that they have been penned for a day or two and in strange quarters has resulted in the guineas not being so lively as they would be in their native haunts or just taken.

GUINEA DAY LEADS MANY HERE TODAY

CROWDS BEGIN COMING EARLY TO SPECIAL SALES.

STORES CROWDED BY SHOPPERS; SALES ON

All Business Establishments Report Record Purchases Through Boost—Turn the Fowls Loose.

The fears last night that it would rain today and thereby spoil the plans for Guinea day were cast aside this morning, and all in charge wore a bright smile as the sun came out bright and continued through the day. The guineas for the occasion had arrived last night and all was in readiness to start off the schedule on time.

The crowd also began to come early. Every road leading into Maryville was dusty this morning and early afternoon with rigs and automobiles wending their way to Guinea day events here.

Though this is perhaps the busiest time of the whole season for the farmer and his family, many cast off business cares and work for today and brought their whole families to town to shop and take in the free entertainments.

Dollar Works Today.

It is truly the day when the dollar is doing its duty at all stores.

The stores were thronged with shoppers early this morning. Early this afternoon the throngs had gotten almost too large to handle.

The free events opened at 10:45 o'clock with the initial guinea contest.

The final tour to advertise the day was made yesterday afternoon by about thirty-five boosters in nine automobiles. They visited Arkoe, Sunny Brook, Graham and Maitland, while a few returned by way of Skidmore. Elmo and Dawson alone were not visited by the boosters on the three trips. This was on account of bad roads and the distance from other towns, and not through intention to slight the residents of Lincoln township. The band accompanied

WHITE CLOUD ENTERTAINMENT.

Women of Rural Church Would Buy New Carpet for Building.

The Ladies' Aid society of the White Cloud Baptist church, south of Maryville, will give a social at the church Friday evening.

As an added inducement to attend, the secretary of the society, Mrs. John R. Evans, has written in rhyme a description of what the evening's entertainment is to be. The proceeds of the affair are to be used to buy a church carpet. The rhyme follows:

The ladies of White Cloud a social will give
Friday eve, the eighteenth, as sure as you live.
Of course, there'll be ice cream, and lemonade, too,
Popcorn for the little boys, candy for you.
We must get money some way to carpet those aisles;
Twon't do for Arkoe to lead in all styles.
Come, then, with your pockets well filled with dimes,
To the church and we'll see that you have a fine time.

GIVE CHICKS SHADE IN SUMMER.

Expert Says Cool Quarters Must Be Provided to Get Best Results.

"Poultry cannot thrive in summer unless it is provided with cool, shady quarters," says H. L. Kempster of the poultry department of the Missouri college of agriculture. "The young stock will not make economical growth, and there will be a larger number of deaths among them if their quarters are not shaded. With mature stock the egg production will be cut down quite largely because of excessive heat."

Ducks are especially susceptible to the direct rays of the hot sun, according to Mr. Kempster, and one should never attempt to raise them unless they have shade. Poultry houses set on blocks so that the chicks can go underneath, orchards, patches of corn, etc., are measures which can be easily employed. Farmers will find that a corn field will make one of the most satisfactory places for raising the young as soon as they do not require the close attention necessary during their early life.

Patches of sunflowers planted now will be of value later on, and the better growth the chicks will make and the increased egg production will repay well any efforts made to provide more comfortable quarters for the poultry flocks.

HIS OWN LIFE A MOVIE DRAMA

Rise of Donald Mackenzie Reads Like Film Play

BORN AND BRED IN SCOTLAND

Poor Boy of the Highlands Now Famed as Screen Director—Many Successes in America for "Gillie" of Seventeen Years Ago.

Some sixteen or seventeen years ago, in one of those sections of the Scottish Highlands so remote that Gaelic is still spoken and the old men still tell legends their fathers told them of "Prince Charlie," an English nobleman leased several thousand acres of land for the shooting.

Arriving at the tiny village on the property which he had leased he sought information as to the best man available for him to hire to accompany him on his shooting trips. The answer he received was the same from each man he asked—"Donald Mackenzie is a guid mon." The Englishman sought out the popular favorite and found a square jawed, square set young fellow of some seventeen or eighteen yars old, who vowed with quiet confidence that he could give satisfaction. That was the parting of the ways for the Scotch boy. Sprung from godly parents who had taught him the best they knew how with the few books at their command he knew as well as they that the ambitions which controlled him could find no attractive goal in his native village—that neither wealth nor fame lay for him among the frowning mountains, along the flashing streams or where the heather empurpled the upland pastures. The Englishman took a great interest in the lad. The long days of close companionship on lonely moors brought them together in a way unusual between employer and employee, and when the season ended, the young man bade farewell to home and parents, turned his back upon the foggy mountains and accompanied the nobleman to London.

There the education of the Scotch boy went on apace. Treated as a friend by his patron he enjoyed all the advantages that good society could give. It was found that he had a splendid bass voice, and he was much in demand at private musicales. One day a prominent theatrical man heard him and offered him an operatic engagement at Daly's Theatre in London to play the part of Lord Enchester in "The Country Girl." He accepted and made good in the role, and so was secured by the late Augustin Daly to play the same part in the United States.

Engagements with Lulu Glaser in "Dolly Vardon," the W. T. Carleton Opera Company, "The Mayor of Tokio," and "The Time, the Place and the Girl" followed. Mr. Mackenzie tells with gusto how he got his first big chance. He made it a rule to understudy every big part to which he was suited, and one night he was playing in "When Johnny Came Marching Home," when W. T. Carleton, who was playing the general, became seized with heart failure in the biggest scene of all, staggered to the wings and then fell. Quick as a flash our Scotchman shot out of the front, took up the part where it had been left off, and to the amazement of the company finished the act in that part without making a single error. At the close of the act, while the doctors were attending to Mr. Carleton, Mr. Mackenzie changed to the sick man's costume and finished the performance as the general.

The next day Mr. Carleton showed his gratitude by raising Mr. Mackenzie's salary and giving him the part. A friendship sprang up between the two which has endured through the years and which was shown by Mr. Mackenzie giving to Mr. Carleton the part of the governor in his fine picture, "The Pardon."

Mr. Mackenzie has been associated with Pathe for over three years as actor and producer. In the "Perils of Pauline" he not only appeared in several episodes as "the pirate" (a part which made a big hit), but he directed the production of many of the episodes himself. Today he is reputed to be making big money by producing pictures which are released through Pathe. His most recent production the fine three-part Pathe drama, "The Pardon," has received flattering reviews and has been booked by the Loew theatres for fifty days solid.

NOVELS TO BE FILMED

William J. Locke's "The Beloved Vagabond," and Richard Harding Davis' "The Galloper," are to be picturized by Pathe.

"The Beloved Vagabond" is one of Locke's most successful novels and was presented on the London stage by Mr. Beerbohm Tree, England's most famous actor.

"The Galloper" was played by Raymond Hitchcock for a number of seasons, and was then made into a musical comedy. It is a highly amusing farce detailing the adventures of a young millionaire who finds himself compelled to take upon his shoulders the identity of a muchly married war correspondent, Kirke Warren. The story has a Graeco-Turkish atmosphere, and the millionaire while dodging bomb shells and divorced wives goes through many uproarious situations.

A FOURTH OF JULY SENTIMENT.

CONTEMPLATE the condition of that country of which you form an important part. Consider its government, uniting in one bond of common interest and general protection so many different states, giving to all their inhabitants the proud title of American citizens, protecting their commerce, securing their literature and their arts, facilitating their intercommunication, defending their frontiers and making their name respected in the remotest parts of the earth. Consider the extent of territory, its increasing and happy population, its advance in arts which render life agreeable and the sciences which elevate the mind. See education spreading the lights of religion, morality and general information into every cottage in this wide extent of our territories and states. Behold it as the asylum where the wretched and the oppressed find a refuge and support! Look on this picture of happiness and honor and say, "We, too, are citizens of America!"—Andrew Jackson.

UNDER the STARS and the STRIPES

By Madison Cawein

HIGH on the world did our fathers of old,
Under the stars and stripes,
Blazon the name that we now must uphold,
Under the stars and stripes.
Vast in the past they have builded an arch
Over which Freedom has lighted her torch.
Follow it! Follow it! Come, let us march
Under the stars and stripes.

WE in whose bodies the blood o them runs,
Under the stars and stripes,
We will acquit us as sons of their sons.
Under the stars and stripes.
Ever for justice, our heel upon wrong,
We in the right of our vengeance thrice strong!
Rally together! Come tramping along
Under the stars and stripes.

OUT of our strength and a nation's great need,
Under the stars and stripes,
Heroes again as of old we shall breed,
Under the stars and stripes.
Broad to the winds be our banner unfurled,
Straight in wrong's face let defiance be hurled!
God on our side, we will battle the world
Under the stars and stripes.

An Old "Safe and Sane" Law.

Philadelphia had a law against fireworks fifty-five years before the Declaration of Independence was signed.

In Seventy-six

The little boys of seventy-six—
They did their chores and swam and fished,
And hunted hares and whittled sticks,
While all the time they wished and wished
To hear a sudden summons come,
Each waiting day, each listening night:
"We need the boys for flag and drum,
To send them to the fight!"

DRESSED AS IN DAYS OF '76.

The little girls of seventy-six—
They rocked their dollies to and fro,
And taught the kittens pretty tricks,
And heard their mothers talking low;
Then climbed the hay and peered from out
The stable loft's most lofty crack,
And longed to raise a joyful shout—
"The men are marching back!"

BARRYMORE NOW A PICTURE STAR

Lionel, Brother of John and Ethel, Featured on Screen

STUDIED PAINTING ABROAD

Now Finds That Making Pictures Is More Profitable Than Painting Them—Added to "Romance of Elaine" Star Company.

Lionel Barrymore, nephew of John Drew and celebrated brother of the famous John and Ethel Barrymore, will be featured in motion pictures this summer.

This is not Mr. Barrymore's first appearance on the screen—he has had important parts in several big productions, but it is with the legitimate stage that his name has been most associated. He was broken into the profession by his uncle, John Drew, with whom he played for a number of years. Among the famous plays with which he was identified were "The Mummy and the Humming Bird", "The Other Girl", Barrie's play "Pantaloon", "The Best of Friends", and "Sag Harbor", with James A. Hearne. After playing in "The Other Girl", Mr. Barrymore fulfilled youthful aspirations by going to Paris to study painting, an occupation so fascinating that it held him in France for three years. Mr. Barrymore says that when he returned to America he found his fellow artists in the cast of "The Other Girl" all famous—Richard Bennett, Wally Eddinger, Doris Kean, and Tully Marshall, which caused him to think hard upon the old saw about the cobbler sticking to his last. Then he decided there was more money in acting in pictures than in painting them and worked in a number of feature productions.

Mr. Barrymore owns a fine summer home at Rocky Point, Long Island, but says that he has been trying in vain for years to get acquainted with it. No sooner does he start to leave town than he is offered a fat engagement which no same man could refuse.

History repeated itself with him this year since on the eve of his departure for Rocky Point he was offered an engagement with Pathe to play the "heavy" in "The Romance of Elaine", a well known serial photoplay. The fact that his work would take him to Ithaca, N. Y., where his lines would be cast in pleasant places, reconciles Mr. Barrymore to another summer's exile from the mansion he cannot use.

U. S. REGULARS IN BIG FEATURE

Mackenzie Uses Cavalry in Stirring Scenes.

Donald Mackenzie, the Pathe producer, has just finished making a four-reel feature called "The Fortunes of Peter," which has all the earmarks of a notable success. Mr. Mackenzie had a cast of well-known players, most of whom have already achieved fame on the screen.

George Probert, who won golden opinions as Oskar Von Guggen in "Innocent" and the Cadet in "The Lure," has the lead and this picture marks his debut before the camera. Mr. Probert confesses that his first two days of picture acting were little less than torture to him. The sight of the lens staring at him all the time was infinitely more dreadful than the batteries of critical eyes on a big "opening night."

Paul Panzer, after weeks of successful vaudeville touring, returns to the screen again in this picture. Mr. Panzer, it will be remembered, made himself the best-hated villain in the country through his work as "Owen" in "The Perils of Pauline."

Other members of the cast are Miss Alma Martin, a popular favorite in the "legitimate," Sam Ryan, who has been in many Pathe pictures, and Charles Bunnell, who was with the Pathe St. Augustine Company in the winter of 1913-14.

The picture required hundreds of supers and Mr. Mackenzie made arrangements for a troop of cavalry, regulars of the United States Army, to appear in a number of stirring scenes.

George Brackett Seitz wrote the scenario.

Christy Mathewson

Famous Baseball Pitcher, says:

"Tuxedo gets to me in a natural, pleasant way. It's what I call good, honest companionable tobacco—the kind to stick to."

Tuxedo Keeps You In Good Trim

Christy Mathewson, lovingly known as "The Old Master," is probably the greatest pitcher baseball has ever known. This wonderful athlete is noted for his clear-headed common sense, his quick wits, perfect physical condition, and absolute control over his nerves. His use and endorsement of Tuxedo prove that this inspiring and healthful tobacco is helpful to mind and body.

Tuxedo

All the bite and sting have been removed by the famous "Tuxedo Process." This exclusive process of refining the very best Kentucky Burley tobacco has been widely imitated, but without success.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

AMERICAN DOLLAR IS KING

English Pound and French Franc Slump Two and Four Per Cent.

New York June 16—The prominence and importance of this country as the temporary center of world finance was again demonstrated when English and French rates of exchange manifested greater weakness than at any time since New York entered seriously into the field of international banking.

Demand sterling declined to 4.75¼ and demand bills on Paris were sold at 5.45¾. This puts the buying power of the English pound and French franc in this country at the lowest levels recorded in over fifty years and offers additional proof of the enormous quantity of credits held by American bankers and manufacturers mainly as a result of the large war orders now under contract.

On the basis quoted, an English pound sterling shows a depreciation of 2 per cent and francs are at a discount of almost 4 per cent.

PRAYERS ARE FOR WILSON

Church and Mission Workers Send Message of Support to President.

San Francisco, June 16.—Church and mission workers "representing millions of Christians in many lands," telegraphed to President Wilson their assurance of prayers for his "efforts to hold this nation steady at this critical hour." The message was adopted at a peace meeting of the Federal Council of Churches and the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of the United States.

MIDGET COUNTRY INTO WAR.

San Marino, Latest Entry Into European Controversy, Has an Army of 60.

San Marino is reported to have entered the war a few days ago on the side of the allies. Ever since the war between Italy and Austria in 1866, it has been at war with Austria, no formal treaty of peace ever having been arranged. The tiny republic, twenty-two miles in area, is entirely surrounded by Italy.

It is 150 miles southeast of Rome and near the town of Rimini. The republic has a population of 12,000, while the city of San Marino has a little over 1,500 inhabitants. In addition to the standing army of sixty there are seven policemen and two government doctors.

It has an army of sixty soldiers and its artillery consists of two obsolete saluting cannon. If San Marino had continued neutral Austrian aeroplanes operated from Pola, the Austrian naval base on the Adriatic, could in time of need have taken refuge in San Marino, repair, take on new supplies and return home.

The story of the founding of San Marino is as unique as the republic itself.

In the last part of the fourth century a stone cutter from Dalmatia came to the city of Rimini to build walls for that city. He got the stone from the quarries on Mount Titanus and in his spare time sought to gain converts to Christianity. He succeeded so well that a certain woman of title made him a present of the mountain as a reward for his efforts.

This mountain then became a refuge for persecuted Christians. When the stonecutter, Marinus by name, died, the little band he had gathered around him built a monastery, proclaimed him a saint and then to further perpetuate his memory they established the republic of San Marino.

Perched on a mountain, so rugged and steep as to make invasion a hopeless task for an enemy, San Marino has always remained an independent state.

There are no taxes, no crime and no high cost of living problem, for everybody lives the simple life. They are peaceful; they till the soil for their comfortable but not bountiful living, and because they make no pretensions and as a nation have never sought to be anything but what they are they never have been molested or taken part in international affairs—until now.

The congress that makes the few laws the republic needs is chosen for life, and in addition two presidents (regents) are elected. One usually a nobleman, the other a peasant. Thus a happy medium that suits everybody is reached.

The transportation problem does not bother the inhabitants, for there are no railroads or street cars. Everybody has his own little donkey and when he travels he does so via "the donkey line."

There is only one level spot in the city of San Marino and that is the little square in front of the government palace. It is called the bianello (the plain) In the center of this piazza is a statue of Liberty—the symbol that the inhabitants love and boast of so much—and beneath the statue is a well from which the city gets its water supply.

OVERFLOW KILLS ALFALFA.

Farm Expert Says Plant Will Die If Covered 3 Days.

Water standing on a field of alfalfa even two or three days will kill it, says F. D. Coburn, formerly secretary of the Kansas state board of agriculture. Alfalfa will not thrive with cold, wet feet.

Alfalfa land should be well drained and supplied with vegetable matter. While it will frequently make a fine stand from spring seeding, the weeds, and especially the crab grass, often destroy the plants before fall, even though it is clipped every thirty days.

Alfalfa, if seeded in the fall, must be put in early, about the first of September, in order to secure a strong growth before cold weather.

It may be then cut for hay next year, whereas, when seeded in the spring, it cannot be cut for hay at all, but must simply be clipped as occasion may require, especially when it shows an inclination to stop growing and become yellow in color.

Land that grows clover and cowpeas successfully should suit alfalfa fairly well.

Remember that the greatest difficulty with alfalfa is to get it properly started, as it is a delicate plant, and should be put on well prepared ground.

While Missouri has the lowest tax rate of any state in the Union, it always has a comfortable balance in its strong box. The total balance of all funds on May 31 was $6,672,667.

GERMANS CAPTURE TOWN OF MOSICKA

Berlin Official Report Announces Successes Against Russians.

Berlin, June 16.—Official announcement was made at the army headquarters that the Austro German forces operating in Galicia had captured the town of Mosicka.

At German army headquarters the following announcement was made:

"Western theater of war: The French suffered a fresh defeat. In spite of the heavy losses they sustained on June 13, they continued with great stubbornness the attempt to break through the line between Lievin and Arras. The French attack, which was carried out with large forces in close formation, broke down everywhere with the heaviest losses under the fire of our troops.

"Northwest of Moulin-Sous-Touvent, we have not yet succeeded in regaining portions of the trenches lost by us on the 6th inst. In Champagne, north of Perthes and Les Mesnil, fighting continues, but the enemy is unable to gain the advantage.

"The open town of Karlsruhe, which is far from the theater of operations and not in any way fortified, was attacked with bombs dropped by hostile airmen. So far as is known, some eleven citizens were killed and six injured. Military damage could not have been caused. One aircraft of the enemy was brought down by one of our military airmen and the occupants were killed. Another enemy aircraft was obliged to land near Schirmeck."

LUSITANIA NOT ARMED

Testimony Shows Steamship Did Not Carry Guns.

London, June 16.—"The Lusitania was not armed and it never was fitted out as a transport," was one of the remarks made by Sir Edward Carson, attorney general in the new cabinet, in addressing the court at the opening of the board of trade inquiry into the loss of the Cunard liner

Sir Edward Carson, who opened for the board of trade, said he courted the fullest inquiry. He was able to give complete denial to the contention of the German government that the Lusitania was an armed vessel carrying guns and serving as an auxiliary to the naval forces of Great Britain. "In its note to Germany," the speaker said, "the United States already has officially denied this, and the evidence I propose to call will confirm and fully prove the remarks of the American government that the Lusitania was not armed and that it never had been fitted out as a transport."

TO AVOID BINDER TROUBLE.

State Expert Says Lack of Care Main Trouble—Look It Over First.

The self binder probably receives more abuse and greater neglect than any other machine on the farm, according to M. A. R. Kelley of the department of agricultural engineering of the University of Missouri. While its life is measured in years, its usefulness is counted in days. The average life of a binder is five years. During this period it is used a total of approximately 70 to 100 days. By providing adequate shelter for it and giving it proper care its life can be increased and the repair bills reduced.

One of the first things to do in getting the binder ready for the season's work is to see that the guards are in line. Sickle sections and ledger plates which are badly nicked should be replaced with new ones. Adjust the clips so that the sickle is held firmly and gives a true shearing cut. The lost motion in the pitman and connections should be taken up and the sickle made to register.

If it is necessary to take the binder attachment apart, much trouble and time can be saved by marking the parts with a cold chisel, showing how they are put together, if they have not been previously marked. If the knife is occasionally sharpened and kept in good condition it will relieve the strain and wear on the knotter parts.

Oil should be used a little at a time but at frequent intervals Different parts of a binder require different amounts of lubrication. It is not necessary to give the binder frame a bath in oil and let the bearings oil themselves by process of absorption. This only aids in accumulation of dust and grit which soon works into the bearings.

Motor Party From Bolckow.

Andrew Dodds of Skidmore, accompanied by Miss Irene Dodds and Miss Myrtle Floyd of Bolckow, and Miss Dodd's guest, Mrs. Hall of Des Moines, Ia., drove to Maryville today in the Dodds car and spent the day here.

Some states may raise more corn than Missouri; some more wheat, some more of this product or that. Sometimes it may be some states may raise more cattle, more hogs or more horses. Sometimes the crops of fruits and vegetables may be larger in some states than in Missouri, but year in and year out Missouri raises the greatest aggregate of all the good things that grow in or on the ground, and they are the best.

Are You Deaf or Hard of Hearing?

Now is the ideal time to treat deafness. Ninety per cent of all deafness is caused by catarrh. Dr. Edwards of St. Louis has discovered and perfected an operation for catarrhal deafness which is remarkable for its many cures. There is no cutting and it is painless. I am now using this operation in Maryville with remarkable success. Every patient treated by me has been cured or greatly benefited.

ADVERTISING is today the mightiest factor in the business world. It is an evolution of modern industrial competition. It is a business builder, with a potency that goes beyond human desire. It is something more than a "drummer" knocking at the door of the consumer—something more than mere salesmanship-on-paper. It is a positive, creative force in business. It builds factories, sky-scrapers and railroads. It makes two blades of grass grow in the business world where only one grew before. It multiplies human wants and intensifies human desires. It furnishes excuse to timorous and hesitating ones for possessing the things which under former conditions they could easily get along without.

Better begin to advertise at once. Every day of waiting is a day wasted.

Who Wins In The War?

The stupendous destructions of property and the loss of life in this greatest of wars fairly staggers the imagination. Master minds that were once turned to the finest of commercial development now are used in engineering the death campaigns.

Advertising, the most powerful of business builders, is now even used in the business of war. Soldiers are called into fighting ranks by advertising. Warring nations advocate their principle to the neutral nations by advertising and the people are trained to greater national spirit through advertising.

Just the same as in peace advertising accomplishes powerful results. It is helping nations to greater efforts in the war. It may even help them to win Who wins in the war? This is not of the most vital concern to us.

Our own businesses growing stronger through new demands require our attention. Our own work goes on. It must go on.

Advertising, a powerful weapon of business and even of war, is our ally.

Let's use it in building our businesses.

THEY STUDY DURING SUMMER.

Many Students Take Extra Work in Extension Division of University.

Ambitious students in the universities, colleges and high schools of the state are taking extra work by correspondence during the summer thru the extension department of the University of Missouri, according to C. H. Williams, secretary of university extension.

The University correspondence courses are offered the year round. Many students who need a few extra hours in order to get a degree the following year are taking advantage of courses offered by the extension division. If a student works hard, it is possible for him to complete about five hours of University work by correspondence during the summer vacation, says Mr. Williams.

Not only many students in the University of Missouri take advantage of this opportunity to get work which counts toward a college degree, but students in other colleges, in nearly all cases, may take required courses by correspondence from the University of Missouri and have their credit transferred to the college from which they intend to take their degree.

High school students who lack one unit for entrance to the University may make up that credit by taking a correspondence course in the needed high school subject through the extension division. This would make it possible for that student to enter the University next fall without a condition in any subject.

The cost of the correspondence courses at the University of Missouri is small, according to Mr. Williams. The special announcement of the extension division which is sent to any one on application, describes the courses offered, the manner of enrolling, and the cost of the work.

MUST REPORT INTERFERENCE.

Judge Kohlsaat of the Federal Court Takes a Hand in Chicago Street Car Tieup—Only Few Minor Acts of Violence Reported.

Chicago, June 16.—Judge Kohlsaat in the United States district court ordered the receivers for the Chicago and Oak Park Elevated road to resume service today and to employ strikebreakers and report any interference with operations to the court.

Only a few minor acts of violence were reported in connection with the operation of the elevated trains, which carried few passengers and made irregular stops.

In the meantime the great mass of the population walked to work or rode in automobiles, steam trains or buses, which included vehicles of all description, ranging from the converted ice wagon to the huge delivery motor truck with seats for forty or fifty passengers.

In spite of the absence of street cars, traffic was more congested than ever before and police officials were attempting to work out a scheme of regulation to control motor cars which have been running through the shopping quarters in the heart of the city. An effort may be made to keep the cars from entering the downtown streets and provide stations just outside, where they can discharge and receive passengers.

An acid bomb was thrown from a building at Wells and West Kinsie streets. It smashed a window of an elevated train, but did no other damage.

Strikebreakers are being recruited at New York and Philadelphia.

CROPS FOR LATE PLANTING

Badly Washed Corn Fields May Be Reseeded or Kaffir or Cow Peas Used.

What crop should be planted in corn fields which have been badly washed or in which rain has prevented the completion of planting? This question asked by farmers after the heavy beating rains of late May, is answered by L. E. Call, professor of agronomy in the Kansas State Agricultural College.

If corn is planted about June 15, Mr. Call says, it will undoubtedly be better to plant a variety that will mature in from ninety to one hundred days. Whenever possible, it is advisable to plant a variety that will use as much of the growing season as is available, for usually the longer the growing period the heavier the yield, provided the crop is not injured by dry weather, hot winds on insects.

Some Corn Matures Quickly.

Pride of the North, Minnesota No. 13 and other varieties of this character grown in states to the north of Kansas should mature in ninety to one hundred days.

Where a fair stand of corn has been obtained on one-half or more of the farm it is necessary at this time to plant the rest of the cultivated land to some spring crop. Kafir or some other strain of sorghum is undoubtedly the best crop to plant. In an ordinary season, a well selected strain of kafir planted about June 15 or 20, will mature.

Kafir Matures Before Frost.

Kafir planted as late as June 5 to 15 usually matures before frost. Earlier maturing varieties, such as dwarf blackhulled white and whitehulled white kafir, may be planted a week or ten days later than standard blackhulled white kafir with reasonable assurance that the crop will mature. Kafir planted at this season not only is a more certain crop than corn, but will usually produce a larger yield of grain to the acre than an early strain of corn.

If the weather remains wet so that planting is delayed until the last of June, there will still be time to plant feterita, which in an ordinary season will mature in from eighty to ninety days. Freed's sorghum, another early maturing strain of sorghum, will mature in from seventy to eighty days. This crop is not a heavy yielder and should be planted only when a very quick maturing variety is desired.

Sudan grass can be planted during the last part of June and the first of July with fair assurance of a crop. For hay, cowpeas can be planted as late as the first of July and be removed in the fall in time to seed a crop of wheat. Soybeans will mature in ordinary seasons if planted the last part of June and millet can be safely seeded for hay until July.—Kansas Industrialist.

SKIDMORE LOSES TO MARYVILLE 3-6

WEEK-DAY TEAM WINS LOOSELY PLAYED GAME.

MEET HOPKINS HERE TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Expect Fast Playing to Victory Then—Wakeman Fanned 13 Yesterday No Runs Were Earned.

The Maryville week-day base ball team defeated the Skidmore team in a loosely played game on the Normal field yesterday afternoon by the score of 6 to 3. The game started off as though Skidmore would put the kinks in the locals, they having gotten two runs in the first. Tightening of the loose places after the initial inning, however, and better batting, secured the game for the home nine.

L. H. Thieman of Corning did not prove to be the terror that he was cracked up to be, striking out but eight men to thirteen fanned by Wakeman. Fewer hits and more errors cost the game for the Skidmore team, though the local players also fielded rather loosely.

Skidmore's runs were unearned. The first was when Bodle went to first on a fielder's choice, stole second and came home on a hit by Tate. Tate got the second. He went to first on his single, to second on an error, to third on a passed ball and home on an error.

Last Run in Third.

Bodle also made their final score on a fielder's choice to first, an error to second, stolen base to third and passed ball by catcher advanced him to home plate. That ended their career.

Maryville got its first run in the first inning, when Ed Adams went to first on an error, to second by Alley, next up, being hit by the pitcher, and home on a two-bagger by Wray.

The second run for the Maryville team came in the fourth inning, when Hagey saw first on a fielder's choice, stole second and third and came home when the catcher missed a pitched ball.

But the big time was in the fifth inning, when, with none down, the scoring of three runs began. Palfreyman got on first with a walk, went to second on a steal, to third on a single by Vaughn, next up, and stole home. Vaughn in the meantime had gone to first on his single, stole second, saw third on an error and came home on a repetition. Adams followed with a sight at first on an error, stole second, went to third on a bingle by Alley and came home right with Vaughn on a bonehead by Tate, Skidmore catcher.

Mastellar, a Strong Arm.

Mastellar got a two-bagger after two went down, but died at third on a foul catch by Tate. The final score came in the seventh inning, when Wray got a single, stole second, went to third on an error, and home on a single by Mastellar. Wakeman also had a fine chance to score in the sixth inning, when with only one down he had advanced to second, and would have made third safely when interfered with by Hagey, coaching.

A crowd of about 325 saw the game, while Skidmore had quite a bunch of rooters The week-day team will play Hopkins at the Normal field at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Hopkins team was defeated here Sunday by the Federals 0 to 4. A good game tomorrow is expected.

PREDICT WARM WEATHER.

Government Promises Showers Tomorrow and Again Sunday in the Middle West.

Special to Democrat-Forum.

Washington, June 16.—The hot wave now prevailing over the eastern part of the country will continue through the week, according to government forecasts. The weekly forecast today predicts temperatures above the seasonal average in almost all parts of the country, with scattered showers that are not expected to bring much relief from the heat.

The coolest part of the country yesterday was the upper Missouri valley, where the temperature had fallen and during the night frost was reported.

Weather predictions for the week beginning tomorrow for the plain states and the upper Mississippi valley were forecast today as follows:

Scattered showers are probable Thursday and again on Sunday. Temperatures rather above seasonal average are probable.

Britain Prepares For Long Seige at Dardanelles—Teutons Resume in Galicia—Greece to War?

London, June 16.—The house of commons voted another credit of £250,000,000, making, with previous sums, a total of £862,000,000 already allowed for war purposes.

Premier Asquith informed the members of the house of commons that the expenditure in the next three months would be not less than $15,000,000 daily.

In introducing the measure, Premier Asquith remarked that from April 1 to June 12, the expenditures had been at the rate of £2,660,000 daily. He estimated that the total daily expenditure during the currency of the new credit would be not less than £3,000,000, for the reason that as the war extended its area, Great Britain's financial obligations to the allies would increase.

German Rush Is On Again.

The Austro-German rush in Galicia is on again. Both Berlin and Vienna officially lay claim to progress along virtually the entire southeastern front.

The fighting is growing harder daily along the Austro-Italian frontier and, in view of past performances, it is considered reasonable to assume that Germany will throw a great mass of troops on this front and endeavor to sweep into Italy and hold ground there, just as it has done in Poland, Belgium and France.

The fighting in France around Arras, while bitter and marked by daily attack and counter attack, has reached the stage where the German and French official communications flatly contradict each other. On the whole, it is believed here the advantage has been with the French.

Prepared For Long Fight.

That England is prepared for long siege operations in the Dardanelles is indicated in an official statement just issued explaining the nature of the tedious trench warfare prevailing, although asserting that the Turkish offensive is not so sharp as it was formerly.

Almost complete returns for the general elections assure a war chamber for Greece, although with the king still in a precarious condition and the chamber not due to meet for more than a month, no immediate events affecting Greece's neutrality are expected.

BAPTISTS GET ONLY 4 FISH

Material for Lawn "Fry" Tomorrow Night Lacking—Try Today in Platte River.

The Men's club of the First Baptist church plan to have a fish fry for all the members of the church on the church lawn tomorrow night, but so far they have but four "measly mud cats" in sight for the fry. They were caught yesterday in Senator Anderson Craig's pond, northeast of town, by the Rev. L. M. Hale, Dr. Karl Malotte, William Burris, M. I. Woods, Martin Borrusch, Roy Martin, Chief of Police E. C. Moberly and Sheriff Edwin Wallace. They were caught in a seine.

Undaunted by the failure of yesterday, however, the same bunch, excepting Chief Moberly and Sheriff Wallace, left for the Platte river at 11 o'clock this morning to try to get some fish. If they can't get them that way, Dr. Malotte said they would have them shipped in.

The fish fry is assured anyway.

MANY WIN PRIZES

GUINEA FOWLS EASILY CAPTURED IN CHASES TODAY.

33 AWARDS TOTAL $150

Business Establishments of City Offer Merchandise to Winners in Bird Contest—Each is Numbered.

The guineas are flying today, but not very high nor very far. As a result the race for the ten flown from the building occupied by Pearson's pharmacy, Fourth and Main streets, at 11:30 o'clock this morning and the twelve from Third and Main streets at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon was not very long nor spirited.

Several led the scores of small boys and even adults a merry chase down the streets and through the court house lawn, but the majority were picked up quite easily. The remainder of the thirty-three fowls will be turned loose at 5 o'clock this afternoon from some place in the business section.

The fact that they have been penned for a day or two and in strange quarters has resulted in the guineas not being so lively as they would be in their native haunts or just taken.

Anyone is Eligible.

No one is barred in the contest for the guineas and one is entitled to as many as he can catch. Each bird has an aluminum band about the leg, on which is a number. It corresponds to the number of one of the thirty-three prizes being offered by the various business establishments of the city.

The contestant is required to register the catch at the office of the Commercial club, and there get an order for the prize, before the catch is recognized. The winners are allowed to retain the guineas.

GUINEA DAY LEADS MANY HERE TODAY

CROWDS BEGIN COMING EARLY TO SPECIAL SALES.

STORES CROWDED BY SHOPPERS; SALES ON

All Business Establishments Report Record Purchases Through Boost—Turn the Fowls Loose.

The fears last night that it would rain today and thereby spoil the plans for Guinea day were cast aside this morning, and all in charge wore a bright smile as the sun came out bright and continued through the day. The guineas for the occasion had arrived last night and all was in readiness to start off the schedule on time.

The crowd also began to come early. Every road leading into Maryville was dusty this morning and early afternoon with rigs and automobiles wending their way to Guinea day events here.

Though this is perhaps the busiest time of the whole season for the farmer and his family, many cast off business cares and work for today and brought their whole families to town to shop and take in the free entertainments.

Dollar Works Today.

It is truly the day when the dollar is doing its duty at all stores.

The stores were thronged with shoppers early this morning. Early this afternoon the throngs had gotten almost too large to handle.

The free events opened at 10:45 o'clock with the initial guinea contest.

The final tour to advertise the day was made yesterday afternoon by about thirty-five boosters in nine automobiles. They visited Arkoe, Sunny Brook, Graham and Maitland, while a few returned by way of Skidmore. Elmo and Dawson alone were not visited by the boosters on the three trips. This was on account of bad roads and the distance from other towns, and not through intention to slight the residents of Lincoln township. The band accompanied

Many Attend Free Shows.

The second band concert of the day was given at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon while the second guinea contest was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. After this a large majority of the crowd secured free tickets to the matinees at both the Fern and the Empire theaters, where specially prepared programs had been arranged. Both theaters were packed full from the time the shows started, at 2:30, until 4:45 o'clock this afternoon. Then the third and final guinea contest was begun.

The shopping bids fair to continue until the stores close tonight. The best band concert of all is arranged for 8 o'clock tonight on the court house lawn.

WHITE CLOUD ENTERTAINMENT.

Women of Rural Church Would Buy New Carpet for Building.

The Ladies' Aid society of the White Cloud Baptist church, south of Maryville, will give a social at the church Friday evening.

As an added inducement to attend, the secretary of the society, Mrs. John R. Evans, has written in rhyme a description of what the evening's entertainment is to be. The proceeds of the affair are to be used to buy a church carpet. The rhyme follows:

The ladies of White Cloud a social will give
Friday eve, the eighteenth, as sure as you live.
Of course, there'll be ice cream, and lemonade, too,
Popcorn for the little boys, candy for you.
We must get money some way to carpet those aisles;
T'won't do for Arkoe to lead in all styles.
Some, then, with your pockets well filled with dimes,
To the church and we'll see that you have a fine time.

GIVE CHICKS SHADE IN SUMMER.

Expert Says Cool Quarters Must Be Provided to Get Best Results.

"Poultry cannot thrive in summer unless it is provided with cool, shady quarters," says H. L. Kempster of the poultry department of the Missouri college of agriculture. "The young stock will not make economical growth, and there will be a larger number of deaths among them if their quarters are not shaded. With mature stock the egg production will be cut down quite largely because of excessive heat."

Ducks are especially susceptible to the direct rays of the hot sun, according to Mr. Kempster, and one should never attempt to raise them unless they have shade. Poultry houses set on blocks so that the chicks can go underneath, orchards, patches of corn, etc., are measures which can be easily employed. Farmers will find that a corn field will make one of the most satisfactory places for raising the young as soon as they do not require the close attention necessary during their early life.

Patches of sunflowers planted now will be of value later on, and the better growth the chicks will make and the increased egg production will repay well any efforts made to provide more comfortable quarters for the poultry flocks.

HIS OWN LIFE A MOVIE DRAMA

Rise of Donald Mackenzie Reads Like Film Play

BORN AND BRED IN SCOTLAND

Poor Boy of the Highlands Now Famed as Screen Director—Many Successes in America for "Gillie" of Seventeen Years Ago.

Some sixteen or seventeen years ago, in one of those sections of the Scottish Highlands so remote that Gaelic is still spoken and the old men still tell legends their fathers told them of "Prince Charlie," an English nobleman leased several thousand acres of land for the shooting.

Arriving at the tiny village on the property which he had leased he sought information as to the best man available for him to hire to accompany him on his shooting trips. The answer he received was the same from each man he asked—"Donald Mackenzie is a guid mon." The Englishman sought out the popular favorite and found a square jawed, square set young fellow of some seventeen or eighteen years old, who vowed with quiet confidence that he could give satisfaction. That was the parting of the ways for the Scotch boy. Sprung from godly parents who had taught him the best they knew how with the few books at their command he knew as well as they that the ambitions which controlled him could find no attractive goal in his native village—that neither wealth nor fame lay for him among the frowning mountains, along the flashing streams or where the heather empurpled the upland pastures. The Englishman took a great interest in the lad. The long days of close companionship on lonely moors brought them together in a way unusual between employer and employee, and when the season ended, the young man bade farewell to home and parents, turned his back upon the foggy mountains and accompanied the nobleman to London.

There the education of the Scotch boy went on apace. Treated as a friend by his patron he enjoyed all the advantages that good society could give. It was found that he had a splendid bass voice, and he was much in demand at private musicales. One day a prominent theatrical man heard him and offered him an operatic engagement at Daly's Theatre in London to play the part of Lord Enchester in "The Country Girl." He accepted and made good in the role, and so was secured by the late Augustin Daly to play the same part in the United States.

Engagements with Lulu Glaser in "Dolly Vardon," the W. T. Carleton Opera Company, "The Mayor of Tokio," and "The Time, the Place and the Girl" followed. Mr. Mackenzie tells with gusto how he got his first big chance. He made it a rule to understudy every big part to which he was suited, and one night he was playing in "When Johnny Came Marching Home," when W. T. Carleton, who was playing the general, became seized with heart failure in the biggest scene of all, staggered to the wings and then fell. Quick as a flash our Scotchman shot out of the front, took up the part where it had been left off, and to the amazement of the company finished the act in that part without making a single error. At the close of the act, while the doctors were attending to Mr. Carleton, Mr. Mackenzie changed to the sick man's costume and finished the performance as the general.

The next day Mr. Carleton showed his gratitude by raising Mr. Mackenzie's salary and giving him the part. A friendship sprang up between the two which has endured through the years and which was shown by Mr. Mackenzie giving to Mr. Carleton the part of the governor in his fine picture, "The Pardon."

Mr. Mackenzie has been associated with Pathe for over three years as actor and producer. In the "Perils of Pauline" he not only appeared in several episodes as "the pirate" (a part which made a big hit), but he directed the production of many of the episodes himself. Today he is reputed to be making big money by producing pictures which are released through Pathe. His most recent production the fine three-part Pathe drama, "The Pardon," has received flattering reviews and has been booked by the Loew theatres for fifty days solid.

NOVELS TO BE FILMED

William J. Locke's "The Beloved Vagabond," and Richard Harding Davis' "The Galloper," are to be picturized by Pathe.

"The Beloved Vagabond" is one of Locke's most successful novels and was presented on the London stage by Mr. Beerbohm Tree, England's most famous actor.

"The Galloper" was played by Raymond Hitchcock for a number of seasons, and was then made into a musical comedy. It is a highly amusing farce detailing the adventures of a young millionaire who finds himself compelled to take upon his shoulders the identity of a muchly married war correspondent, Kirke Warren. The story has a Graeco-Turkish atmosphere, and the millionaire while dodging bomb shells and divorced wives goes through many uproarious situations.

A FOURTH OF JULY SENTIMENT.

CONTEMPLATE the condition of that country of which you form an important part. Consider its government, uniting in one bond of common interest and general protection so many different states, giving to all their inhabitants the proud title of American citizens, protecting their commerce, securing their literature and their arts, facilitating their intercommunication, defending their frontiers and making their name respected in the remotest parts of the earth. Consider the extent of territory, its increasing and happy population, its advance in arts which render life agreeable and the sciences which elevate the mind. See education spreading the lights of religion, morality and general information into every cottage in this wide extent of our territories and states. Behold it as the asylum where the wretched and the oppressed find a refuge and support! Look on this picture of happiness and honor and say, "We, too, are citizens of America!"—Andrew Jackson.

UNDER the STARS and the STRIPES

By Madison Cawein

HIGH on the world did our fathers of old,
Under the stars and stripes,
Blazon the name that we now must uphold,
Under the stars and stripes.
Vast in the past they have builded an arch
Over which Freedom has lighted her torch.
Follow it! Follow it! Come, let us march
Under the stars and stripes.

WE in whose bodies the blood o them runs,
Under the stars and stripes,
We will acquit us as sons of their sons.
Under the stars and stripes.
Ever for justice, our heel upon wrong,
We in the right of our vengeance thrice strong!
Rally together! Come tramping along
Under the stars and stripes.

OUT of our strength and a nation's great need,
Under the stars and stripes,
Heroes again as of old we shall breed.
Under the stars and stripes.
Broad to the winds be our banner unfurled,
Straight in wrong's face let defiance be hurled!
God on our side, we will battle the world
Under the stars and stripes.

An Old "Safe and Sane" Law.

Philadelphia had a law against fireworks fifty-five years before the Declaration of Independence was signed.

In Seventy-six

The little boys of seventy-six—
They did their chores and swam and fished,
And hunted hares and whittled sticks,
While all the time they wished and wished
To hear a sudden summons come,
Each waiting day, each listening night:
"We need the boys for flag and drum,
To send them to the fight!"

DRESSED AS IN DAYS OF '76.

The little girls of seventy-six—
They rocked their dollies to and fro,
And taught the kittens pretty tricks,
And heard their mothers talking low;
Then climbed the hay and peered from out
The stable loft's most lofty crack,
And longed to raise a joyful shout—
"The men are marching back!"

BARRYMORE NOW A PICTURE STAR

Lionel, Brother of John and Ethel, Featured on Screen

STUDIED PAINTING ABROAD

Now Finds That Making Pictures Is More Profitable Than Painting Them—Added to "Romance of Elaine" Star Company.

Lionel Barrymore, nephew of John Drew and celebrated brother of the famous John and Ethel Barrymore, will be featured in motion pictures this summer.

This is not Mr. Barrymore's first appearance on the screen—he has had important parts in several big productions, but it is with the legitimate stage that his name has been most associated. He was broken into the profession by his uncle, John Drew, with whom he played for a number of years. Among the famous plays with which he was identified were "The Mummy and the Humming Bird", "The Other Girl", Barrie's play "Pantaloon", "The Best of Friends", and "Sag Harbor", with James A. Hearne. After playing in "The Other Girl", Mr. Barrymore fulfilled youthful aspirations by going to Paris to study painting, an occupation so fascinating that it held him in France for three years. Mr. Barrymore says that when he returned to America he found his fellow artists in the cast of "The Other Girl" all famous—Richard Bennett, Wally Eddinger, Doris Kean, and Tully Marshall, which caused him to think hard upon the old saw about the cobbler sticking to his last. Then he decided there was more money in acting in pictures than in painting them and worked in a number of feature productions.

Mr. Barrymore owns a fine summer home at Rocky Point, Long Island, but says that he has been trying in vain for years to get acquainted with it. No sooner does he start to leave town than he is offered a fat engagement which no same man could refuse.

History repeated itself with him this year since on the eve of his departure for Rocky Point he was offered an engagement with Pathe to play the "heavy" in "The Romance of Elaine", a well known serial photoplay. The fact that his work would take him to Ithaca, N. Y., where his lines would be cast in pleasant places, reconciles Mr. Barrymore to another summer's exile from the mansion he cannot use.

U. S. REGULARS IN BIG FEATURE

Mackenzie Uses Cavalry in Stirring Scenes.

Donald Mackenzie, the Pathe producer, has just finished making a four-reel feature called "The Fortunes of Peter," which has all the earmarks of a notable success. Mr. Mackenzie had a cast of well-known players, most of whom have already achieved fame on the screen.

George Probert, who won golden opinions as Oskar Von Guggen in "Innocent" and the Cadet in "The Lure," has the lead and this picture marks his debut before the camera. Mr. Probert confesses that his first two days of picture acting were little less than torture to him. The sight of the lens staring at him all the time was infinitely more dreadful than the batteries of critical eyes on a big "opening night."

Paul Panzer, after weeks of successful vaudeville touring, returns to the screen again in this picture. Mr. Panzer, it will be remembered, made himself the best-hated villain in the country through his work as "Owen" in "The Perils of Pauline."

Other members of the cast are Miss Alma Martin, a popular favorite in the "legitimate," Sam Ryan, who has been in many Pathe pictures, and Charles Bunnell, who was with the Pathe St. Augustine Company in the winter of 1913-14.

The picture required hundreds of supers and Mr. Mackenzie made arrangements for a troop of cavalry, regulars of the United States Army, to appear in a number of stirring scenes.

George Brackett Seitz wrote the scenario.

Christy Mathewson

Famous Baseball Pitcher, says:

"Tuxedo gets to me in a natural, pleasant way. It's what I call good, honest companionable tobacco—the kind to stick to."

Tuxedo Keeps You In Good Trim

Christy Mathewson, lovingly known as "The Old Master," is probably the greatest pitcher baseball has ever known. This wonderful athlete is noted for his clear-headed common sense, his quick wits, perfect physical condition, and absolute control over his nerves. His use and endorsement of Tuxedo prove that this inspiring and healthful tobacco is helpful to mind and body.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

just sort of oozes its gentle way into your life and suddenly you realize its powers for good—because it puts peace in your mind and a happy taste in your mouth. Tuxedo's flavor is so enticingly mild and delicately fragrant it will not irritate the most sensitive throat.

All the bite and sting have been removed by the famous "Tuxedo Process." This exclusive process of refining the very best Kentucky Burley tobacco has been widely imitated, but without success.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

AMERICAN DOLLAR IS KING

English Pound and French Franc Slump Two and Four Per Cent.

New York, June 16—The prominence and importance of this country as the temporary center of world finance was admirably demonstrated when English and French rates of exchange manifested greater weakness than at any time since New York entered seriously into the field of international banking.

Demand sterling declined to 4.76¼ and demand bills on Paris were sold at 5.45¾. This puts the buying power of the English pound and French franc in this country at the lowest levels recorded in over fifty years and offers additional proof of the enormous quantity of credits held by American bankers and manufacturers mainly as a result of the large war orders now under contract.

On the basis quoted, an English pound sterling shows a depreciation of 2 per cent and francs are at a discount of almost 4 per cent.

PRAYERS ARE FOR WILSON

Church and Mission Workers Send Message of Support to President.

San Francisco, June 16.—Church and mission workers, "representing millions of Christians in many lands," telegraphed to President Wilson their assurance of prayers for his "efforts to hold this nation steady at this critical hour." The message was adopted at a peace meeting of the Federal Council of Churches and the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of the United States.

MIDGET COUNTRY INTO WAR.

San Marino, Latest Entry Into European Controversy, Has an Army of 60.

San Marino is reported to have entered the war a few days ago on the side of the allies. Ever since the war between Italy and Austria in 1866, it has been at war with Austria, no formal treaty of peace ever having been arranged. The tiny republic, twenty-two miles in area, is entirely surrounded by Italy.

It is 150 miles southeast of Rome and near the town of Rimini. The republic has a population of 12,000, while the city of San Marino has a little over 1,500 inhabitants. In addition to the standing army of sixty there are seven policemen and two government doctors.

It has an army of sixty soldiers and its artillery consists of two obsolete saluting cannon. If San Marino had continued neutral Austrian aeroplanes operated from Pola, the Austrian naval base on the Adriatic, could in time of need have taken refuge in San Marino, repair, take on new supplies and return home.

The story of the founding of San Marino is as unique as the republic itself.

In the last part of the fourth century a stone cutter from Dalmatia came to the city of Rimini to build walls for that city. He got the stone from the quarries on Mount Titanus and in his spare time sought to gain converts to Christianity. He succeeded so well that a certain woman of title made him a present of the mountain as a reward for his efforts.

This mountain then became a refuge for persecuted Christians. When the stonecutter, Marinus by name, died, the little band he had gathered around him built a monastery, proclaimed him a saint and then to further perpetuate his memory they established the republic of San Marino.

Perched on a mountain, so rugged and steep as to make invasion a hopeless task for an enemy, San Marino has always remained an independent state.

There are no taxes, no crime and no high cost of living problem, for everybody lives the simple life. They are peaceful; they till the soil for their comfortable but not bountiful living, and because they make no pretensions and as a nation have never sought to be anything but what they are they never have been molested or taken part in international affairs—until now.

The congress that makes the few laws the republic needs is chosen for life, and in addition two presidents (regents) are elected. One usually a nobleman, the other a peasant. Thus a happy medium that suits everybody is reached.

The transportation problem does not bother the inhabitants, for there are no railroads or street cars. Everybody has his own little donkey and when he travels he does so via "the donkey line."

There is only one level spot in the city of San Marino and that is the little square in front of the government palace. It is called the bianello (the plain) In the center of this piazza is a statue of Liberty—the symbol that the inhabitants love and boast of so much—and beneath the statue is a well from which the city gets its water supply.

OVERFLOW KILLS ALFALFA.

Farm Expert Says Plant Will Die if Covered 3 Days.

Water standing on a field of alfalfa even two or three days will kill it, says F. D. Coburn, formerly secretary of the Kansas state board of agriculture. Alfalfa will not thrive with cold, wet feet.

Alfalfa land should be well drained and supplied with vegetable matter. While it will frequently make a fine stand from spring seeding, the weeds, and especially the crab grass, often destroy the plants before fall, even though it is clipped every thirty days.

Alfalfa, if seeded in the fall, must be put in early, about the first of September, in order to secure a strong growth before cold weather.

It may be then cut for hay next year, whereas, when seeded in the spring, it cannot be cut for hay at all, but must simply be clipped as occasion may require, especially when it shows an inclination to stop growing and become yellow in color.

Land that grows clover and cowpeas successfully should suit alfalfa fairly well.

Remember that the greatest difficulty with alfalfa is to get it properly started, as it is a delicate plant, and should be put on well prepared ground.

While Missouri has the lowest tax rate of any state in the Union, it always has a comfortable balance in its strong box. The total balance of all funds on May 31 was $6,672,667.

GERMANS CAPTURE TOWN OF MOSICKA

Berlin Official Report Announces Successes Against Russians.

Berlin, June 16.—Official announcement was made at the army headquarters that the Austro German forces operating in Galicia had captured the town of Mosicka.

At German army headquarters the following announcement was made:

"Western theater of war: The French suffered a fresh defeat. In spite of the heavy losses they sustained on June 13, they continued with great stubbornness the attempt to break through the line between Lievin and Arras. The French attack, which was carried out with large forces in close formation, broke down everywhere with the heaviest losses under the fire of our troops.

"Northwest of Moulin-Sous-Touvent, we have not yet succeeded in regaining portions of the trenches lost by us on the 6th inst. In Champagne, north of Perthes and Les Mesnil, fighting continues, but the enemy is unable to gain the advantage.

"The open town of Karlsruhe, which is far from the theater of operations and not in any way fortified, was attacked with bombs dropped by hostile airmen. So far as is known, some eleven citizens were killed and six injured. Military damage could not have been caused. One aircraft of the enemy was brought down by one of our military airmen and the occupants were killed. Another enemy aircraft was obliged to land near Schirmeck."

LUSITANIA NOT ARMED

Testimony Shows Steamship Did Not Carry Guns.

London, June 16.—"The Lusitania was not armed and it never was fitted out as a transport," was one of the remarks made by Sir Edward Carson, attorney general in the new cabinet, in addressing the court at the opening of the board of trade inquiry into the loss of the Cunard liner

Sir Edward Carson, who opened for the board of trade, said he courted the fullest inquiry. He was able to give complete denial to the contention of the German government that the Lusitania was an armed vessel carrying guns and serving as an auxiliary to the naval forces of Great Britain. "In its note to Germany," the speaker said, "the United States already has officially denied this, and the evidence I propose to call will confirm and fully prove the remarks of the American government that the Lusitania was not armed and that it never had been fitted out as a transport."

TO AVOID BINDER TROUBLE.

State Expert Says Lack of Care Main Trouble—Look It Over First.

The self binder probably receives more abuse and greater neglect than any other machine on the farm, according to M. A. R. Kelley of the department of agricultural engineering of the University of Missouri. While its life is measured in years, its usefulness is counted in days. The average life of a binder is five years. During this period it is used a total of approximately 70 to 100 days. By providing adequate shelter for it and giving it proper care its life can be increased and the repair bills reduced.

One of the first things to do in getting the binder ready for the season's work is to see that the guards are in line. Sickle sections and ledger plates which are badly nicked should be replaced with new ones. Adjust the clips so that the sickle is held firmly and gives a true shearing cut. The lost motion in the pitman and connections should be taken up and the sickle made to register.

If it is necessary to take the binder attachment apart, much trouble and time can be saved by marking the parts with a cold chisel, showing how they are put together, if they have not been previously marked. If the knife is occasionally sharpened and kept in good condition it will relieve the strain and wear on the knotter parts.

Oil should be used a little at a time but at frequent intervals Different parts of a binder require different amounts of lubrication. It is not necessary to give the binder frame a bath in oil and let the bearings oil themselves by process of absorption. This only aids in accumulation of dust and grit which soon works into the bearings.

Motor Party From Bolckow.

Andrew Dodds of Skidmore, accompanied by Miss Irene Dodds and Miss Myrtle Floyd of Bolckow, and Miss Dodd's guest, Mrs. Hall of Des Moines, Ia., drove to Maryville today in the Dodds car and spent the day here.

Some states may raise more corn than Missouri; some more wheat, some more of this product or that. Sometimes it may be some states may raise more cattle, more hogs or more horses. Sometimes the crops of fruits and vegetables may be larger in some states than in Missouri, but year in and year out Missouri raises the greatest aggregate of all the good things that grow in or on the ground, and they are the best.

On June 24, 1915, the cornerstone of another capitol will be laid, and when the building is completed it will be one that every Missourian can point to with pride, for it will be one of the most magnificent in the Union.

ADVERTISING is today the mightiest factor in the business world. It is an evolution of modern industrial competition. It is a business builder, with a potency that goes beyond human desire. It is something more than a "drummer" knocking at the door of the consumer—something more than mere salesmanship-on-paper. It is a positive, creative force in business. It builds factories, sky-scrapers and railroads. It makes two blades of grass grow in the business world where only one grew before. It multiplies human wants and intensifies human desires. It furnishes excuse to timorous and hesitating ones for possessing the things which under former conditions they could easily get along without.

Better begin to advertise at once. Every day of waiting is a day wasted.

Who Wins In The War?

The stupendous destructions of property and the loss of life in this greatest of wars fairly staggers the imagination. Master minds that were once turned to the finest of commercial development now are used in engineering the death campaigns.

Advertising, the most powerful of business builders, is now even used in the business of war. Soldiers are called into fighting ranks by advertising. Warring nations advocate their principle to the neutral nations by advertising and the people are trained to greater national spirit through advertising.

Just the same as in peace advertising accomplishes powerful results. It is helping nations to greater efforts in the war. It may even help them to win Who wins in the war? This is not of the most vital concern to us.

Our own businesses growing stronger through new demands require our attention. Our own work goes on. It must go on.

Advertising, a powerful weapon of business and even of war, is our ally.

Let's use it in building our businesses.

ORDERS STRIKE BREAKERS ON CARS

Instructs Receivers of Elevated Road to Resume Service.

MUST REPORT INTERFERENCE.

Judge Kohlsaat of the Federal Court Takes a Hand In Chicago Street Car Tieup—Only Few Minor Acts of Violence Reported.

Chicago, June 16.—Judge Kohlsaat in the United States district court ordered the receivers for the Chicago and Oak Park Elevated road to resume service today and to employ strikebreakers and report any interference with operations to the court.

Only a few minor acts of violence were reported in connection with the operation of the elevated trains, which carried few passengers and made irregular stops.

In the meantime the great mass of the population walked to work or rode in automobiles, steam trains or buses, which included vehicles of all description, ranging from the converted ice wagon to the huge delivery motor truck with seats for forty or fifty passengers.

In spite of the absence of street cars, traffic was more congested than ever before and police officials were attempting to work out a scheme of regulation to control motor cars which have been running through the shopping quarters in the heart of the city. An effort may be made to keep the cars from entering the downtown streets and provide stations just outside, where they can discharge and receive passengers.

An acid bomb was thrown from a building at Wells and West Kinsie streets. It smashed a window of an elevated train, but did no other damage.

Strikebreakers are being recruited at New York and Philadelphia.

CROPS FOR LATE PLANTING

Badly Washed Corn Fields May Be Reseeded or Kaffir or Cow Peas Used.

What crop should be planted in corn fields which have been badly washed or in which rain has prevented the completion of planting? This question asked by farmers after the heavy beating rains of late May, is answered by L. E. Call, professor of agronomy in the Kansas State Agricultural College.

If corn is planted about June 15, Mr. Call says, it will undoubtedly be better to plant a variety that will mature in from ninety to one hundred days. Whenever possible, it is advisable to plant a variety that will use as much of the growing season as is available, for usually the longer the growing period the heavier the yield, provided the crop is not injured by dry weather, hot winds or insects.

Some Corn Matures Quickly.

Pride of the North, Minnesota No. 13 and other varieties of this character grown in states to the north of Kansas should mature in ninety to one hundred days.

Where a fair stand of corn has been obtained on one-half or more of the farm it is necessary at this time to plant the rest of the cultivated land to some spring crop. Kafir or some other strain of sorghum is undoubtedly the best crop to plant. In an ordinary season, a well selected strain of kafir planted about June 15 or 20, will mature.

Kafir Matures Before Frost.

Kafir planted as late as June 5 to 15 usually matures before frost. Earlier maturing varieties, such as dwarf blackhulled white and whitehulled white kafir, may be planted a week or ten days later than standard blackhulled white kafir with reasonable assurance that the crop will mature. Kafir planted at this season not only is a more certain crop than corn, but will usually produce a larger yield of grain to the acre than an early strain of corn.

If the weather remains wet so that planting is delayed until the last of June, there will still be time to plant feterita, which in an ordinary season will mature in from eighty to ninety days. Freed's sorghum, another early maturing strain of sorghum, will mature in from seventy to eighty days. This crop is not a heavy yielder and should be planted only when a very quick maturing variety is desired.

Sudan grass can be planted during the last part of June and the first of July with fair assurance of a crop. For hay, cowpeas can be planted as late as the first of July and be removed in the fall in time to seed a crop of wheat. Soybeans will mature in ordinary seasons if planted the last part of June and millet can be safely seeded for hay until July.—Kansas Industrialist.

THEY STUDY DURING SUMMER.

Many Students Take Extra Work in Extension Division of University.

Ambitious students in the universities, colleges and high schools of the state are taking extra work by correspondence during the summer thru the extension department of the University of Missouri, according to C. H. Williams, secretary of university extension.

The University correspondence courses are offered the year round. Many students who need a few extra hours in order to get a degree the following year are taking advantage of courses offered by the extension division. If a student works hard, it is possible for him to complete about five hours of University work by correspondence during the summer vacation, says Mr. Williams.

Not only many students in the University of Missouri take advantage of this opportunity to get work which counts toward a college degree, but students in other colleges, in nearly all cases, may take required courses by correspondence from the University of Missouri and have their credit transferred to the college from which they intend to take their degree.

High school students who lack one unit for entrance to the University may make up that credit by taking a correspondence course in the needed high school subject through the extension division. This would make it possible for that student to enter the University next fall without a condition in any subject.

The cost of the correspondence courses at the University of Missouri is small, according to Mr. Williams. The special announcement of the extension division which is sent to any one on application, describes the courses offered, the manner of enrolling, and the cost of the work.
